The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Executive Secretary
Agricultural Council of California

Left-wing "liberals" and clever radicals, who invariably demand all the protection and privileges of American democracy—even if they are engaged in trying to destroy the very government whose protection they seek—recently appeared in great numbers before the LaFollette Civil Liberties Committee to protest alleged violations of their rights as American citizens.

Before the senate committee, which, to say the least, allowed them great latitude, the leftists and "red hots" excoriated and castigated California farmers for assiduously denying them such "liberties" as the right to foment labor troubles at peak harvest seasons, or turn over trucks carrying farm produce.

Some of their grievances may have been just, as farmers and other employers, whose patience had worn thin under constant attack, may, in certain instances, have met violence with violence—and baseball bats with pick axes.

But as a matter of fact, the radicals and so-called liberals who have prated the most of violation of their civil liberties in California, have been guilty of that offense far more often—and in far greater degree—than the conservative citizens whom they bitterly accuse.

California, at the moment, has a case in point—the disgusting, thoroughly reprehensible attempt of leftists and pseudo-liberals at Sacramento to spy on Speaker Gordon Garland of the State Assembly by means of a dictaphone recording set concealed in the hotel rooms occupied by Mr. Garland and his wife.

Such activities smack of gestapo methods and the contemptible spy systems of Russia and Germany where liberty is an unknown quantity and privacy is invaded at the slightest whim of dictators who brook no opposition.

And Speaker Garland's only offense, so far as can be ascertained, was that he had spoken out sharply and effectively against radicalism and extremism in high places.

One of the most highly-respected members of the legislature, whose integrity is unquestioned—he was guilty of being a "conservative"!

On the day before he made the startling revelation to the Legislature that he had discovered a sound recording device in his hotel room (which led to another room occupied by an SRA "detective"), Assemblyman Garland had made a public address in which he had charged that the SRA was exploiting both the taxpayers and the needy—and wasting money "like drunken sailors."

In the same address, he had served notice that the bi-partisan economy bloc in the legislature, of which he was a leader, would demand a cleanup of the relief administration and would turn thumbs down on all requests of the state administration for additional taxes.

California farmers, and virtually all California taxpayers, will agree with Assemblyman Garland that a cleanup in relief is long over-due. And they certainly concur most heartily in his statement that California has reached the tax ceiling and must call a halt on new tax increases.

Yet, Garland, seeking to do his duty by his district and the "conservative" people of California (the people who foot the bills!) was the victim of a high-handed attempt at coercion that one might expect in Soviet Russia, but certainly not in America.

It is to be hoped that the legislative committee which has been appointed to investigate this incident gestapo in California will ferret out not only the "secret police" responsible for it, but the higher-ups who hired them—and that all who are party to the plot will be exposed and adequately punished.

In certain "liberal" circles in California, it is common knowledge that such methods have been looked upon with favor and openly condoned for some time past. Communists, of course, may be expected to resort to the Soviet spy system; it is part of their program of "boring from within." But American "liberals"—if they are really American—should reconsider before they make use of such contemptible methods, for they are tampering with the most sacred civil liberties of American citizens.

CITY CLERK TO QUIT OFFICE

Esther A. Mahler Will Not Be A Candidate For Re-Election, She States

City Clerk Esther A. Mahler, in private life Mrs. Merco Petach, will not be a candidate for re-election in the municipal election of April 9th.

She announced Monday morning that at the expiration of her term on April 15th, she will devote her attention to homemaking, concluding an accumulated period of thirteen years and eight months in the office since her appointment as city clerk in April of 1925.

For some time prior to her appointment she had been assistant to her father, the late City Clerk A. J. Mahler, and with his passing she was named by the City Council to complete his unexpired term.

At the next regular municipal election, in 1928, she was a successful candidate for the office and was elected to a four-year term, ending on April 15th, 1932.

In the election of that year, Eloi Gay was named city clerk and served until August of 1934 when, following his sudden death, the city council asked Miss Mahler to accept an appointment to complete the unexpired term and she consented to do so.

Because of her familiarity with the work and her general understanding of municipal affairs, Miss Mahler was able to take over the affairs of the office in a period of emergency and was of material help to the Council in re-establishing an orderly arrangement in the office.

Miss Mahler was a candidate in the election of 1936 and was named to the four-year term which she will conclude on April 15th.

P. T. A. Observes Founder's Day

Mrs. L. J. Dormody And Miss Mary O'Donnell Guests Of Honor

Placerville Parent-Teacher Association held a Founder's Day tea Friday afternoon at the grammar school, with Mrs. L. J. Dormody and Miss Mary O'Donnell as guests of honor. The occasion was arranged under the chairmanship of Mrs. Martin Luther.

Mrs. Dormody was president of Placerville Shakespeare Club at the time the local P. T. A. unit was formed under the club's sponsorship, and Miss O'Donnell was honored as one of the older teachers of the county.

Mrs. G. W. Fitzgerald, of Sacramento, third district chairman of character education, was the guest speaker. The program opened with a group of numbers by the school orchestra, led by Miss Laura Ball, after which Mrs. Albert Simon spoke briefly concerning the aims of the National Legion of Mothers of America, for which she is county chairman.

A playlet, "February Memories," called attention to Valentine's Day, Lincoln's birthday and Washington's birthday. Those who took part included Mrs. Henry Lefevre, Rene Lefevre, Lois Collins, Joyce Irwin and the school glee club.

District officers who were present were introduced and Mrs. W. D. Alexander, district president, paid special compliment to the past presidents of the Placerville group. Following a march by the orchestra, the meeting adjourned for a social hour during which refreshments were served.

FATAL AUTO WRECK YIELDS CHARGES OF SELLING LIQUOR TO MINOR

Judge Raymond McIntosh of Sierra County, sitting on the Placer County bench, conducted a juvenile court hearing in which Louis Milani of Roseville was bound over to the superior court on a charge of selling liquor to Kenneth Sisto, 18.

The trial was set for April 23rd. Sisto's car struck one driven by Morris Shinkle, 30, who was fatally injured.

Charles Allen, probation officer of Placer county, swore to the complaint against Milani in the juvenile court. The defendant is accused of supplying Sisto with a Tom Collins drink.

Cheerful Exile

This young feminine evacuee from Finland manages to keep cheerful despite exile from her home. The little girl wears a tag giving her name and destination. She is among the large number of children taken in by Swedish families until after the war.

HISTORIAN TO ADDRESS CLUB

Peter Conmy Guest Speaker At Tuesday Meeting Of Placerville Lions

Peter Conmy, grand historian of the Grand Parlor, Native Sons of the Golden West, will be the guest speaker at the Tuesday luncheon meeting of Placerville Lions at Hotel Raffles.

Mr. Conmy's acceptance of an invitation to meet with the club was received during the weekend by District Attorney Henry S. Lyon, a member of the Lions' entertainment committee for February and Grand First Vice-President of the Native Sons.

An invitation had been extended to Conmy to meet with the club earlier in the year but he was unable to accept the appointment owing to a prior engagement.

Lion President L. R. Armes will preside at the Tuesday meeting and business will include a report by Attendance Contest Chairman Roy G. Strum, on the progress of the club's attendance contest. The contest, now in its second half, is between two groups of the club identified as the "French Army" and the "British Army," neither of which, it seems, is paying very serious attention to "military strategy."

$3,000 IMPROVEMENT WORK AT LAUNDRY PLANT IS COMPLETED

The American Laundry and Dry Cleaners, according to Roger Douvres, operator, has recently completed an improvement program at the Plant on Sacramento Street, which with new equipment added will total in excess of $3,000.

The main floor space was enlarged to include a boiler room and a new boiler has been installed. All washing machines and extractors have been rebuilt; rearrangement to allow more space; new water lines added, etc.

In addition a complete new shirt folder unit is being installed which will greatly speed up production. A popular feature is that all shirts when ironed, are folded into neat packages and no buttons to undo nor pins to remove.

$3.65 FORGERY ADMITTED; PROBATION REPORT TO BE MADE WEDNESDAY

Elliott M. Gall pleaded guilty Friday in Superior Court to a charge of forgery and made application for probation. Judge George H. Thompson referred the matter to Probation Officer Charles W. Ball for investigation and report on Wednesday, at which time sentence will be passed.

Gall had been arrested after cashing a check for $3.65 at the Pioneer Service Station. He was taken into custody by city officers on a charge of being drunk and disorderly and while he was being held on that charge an investigation of the check was made.

Bound over at a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace T. P. Lewis, Ball pleaded guilty to forging the name "R. C. Willson" to the check for $3.65.

COUGARS DROP 2 AT SONORA

C Team Plays Practice Tilt While Awaiting Sectional Eliminations

Cougar A and B team basketball hopes folded up Friday night at Sonora when the locals bled bowed before the Sonora High school quint, winners in the southern section of the Mother Lode league in their respective divisions.

The Cougar Bees lost, 36 to 24, and the A team lost, 35 to 29.

That marked the climax of the Cougar C team in the sectional eliminations, and the settlement of the Cougar chances in the county basketball league.

The Cougar midgets, who go to Auburn for another practice game Tuesday night, are marking time awaiting their next league game, on March 8th, against the winner of the Sacramento-Nevada County leagues playoff.

Sonora had the Cougar Bees 8 to 4 at the end of the quarter and at half time the score was 16 to 12. Sonora ran the count to 34 to 16 in the third period and coasted in with two points in the last quarter, while the Cougars counted eight.

Goltz was high for the Cougars with six Irish and Yates each scored four.

In the A team game it was 11 to 6 at the quarter for the Cougars and at half time the Sonorans led by one point, 14 to 13. At the end of the third period, Sonora was still on top, 24 to 22 and the final count was 35 to 29.

Sweesy popped in nine points for the Cougars and Boggs and Killian each accounted for eight.

Smith Flat Pair Talk By Radio With Son 4,000 Miles Away

SACRAMENTO—A Sacramentan who had not seen nor talked with his parents for years conversed with them over 4000 miles of ocean Friday evening.

He is Walter Bell, and from the tiny Pacific island of Canton, 1800 miles south of Hawaii and 4000 from Sacramento, he talked to Mr. and Mrs. James A. Bell of Smith's Flat via short wave for one hour and 20 minutes.

The chat was carried on through the short wave radio set of Barton Carrick, 4422 C street, a friend of the Bells. The parents came down from Smith's Flat and, with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dorman of Fresno—Mrs. Dorman is a sister of Walter Bell—talked clearly with only one 10-minute interruption to Walter, a Pan-American radio operator stationed on the island.

ERNEST BOOTH COMPLETES PAROLE; EARNED $28,000 WITH STORIES

Ernest Booth, who lived in Placerville for more than a year following his parole from San Quentin Prison, completed his two and a half years on parole during the weekend and is now subject to release as having been rehabilitated.

Mr. Booth developed a talent for short story writing while in prison and, The San Francisco Examiner reports, earned a total of $28,000 from that source.

In addition to the usual restrictions on paroled men, Mr. Booth's release from San Quentin was subject to the further condition that he refrain during the parole period from writing on prison subjects.

During the year or more of his residence here his writings included movie adaptations of Booth Tarkington's "Penrod" stories. When Booth was originally paroled, he was made directly responsible to H. E. Dillinger, of this city. Subsequently, he moved with his wife to the southern part of the state and The Examiner found him during the weekend at his Santa Cruz mountain home. Currently he is working on a biography of Caleb Greenwood, "These Years I've Lived."

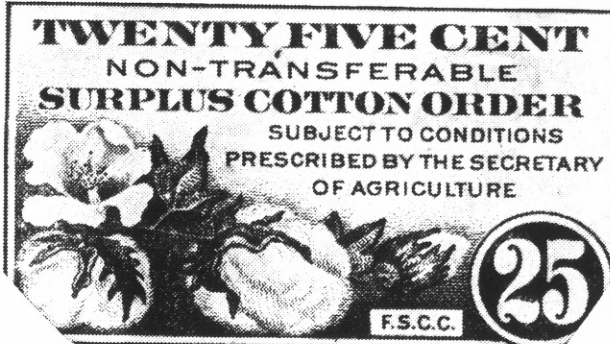

Legion Auxiliary Will Initiate Tuesday

Members of the American Legion auxiliary are making plans for a meeting of special interest on Tuesday evening when the drill team of the unit will participate in an initiation. A social occasion will follow the meeting, which is being arranged by members under the leadership of Mrs. Arzella Delaney, president.

County Clerk Arthur J. Koletzke returned during the weekend from San Diego where he had spent the previous week attending the annual meeting of county auditors of the state.

Farm Advisor and Mrs. Ivan Lilley were visitors Sunday at Sacramento.

Stamps for Cotton Purchases

Here are facsimiles of the special government stamps to be issued to enable relief families in cities where food stamps are now distributed to purchase cotton goods and aid in reducing the nation's surplus. Relief families will be entitled to purchase $1 worth of cotton stamps (green, top) and receive free an additional $1 worth (brown, bottom). Purchases may be made every three months.

LINKS PRODUCE 25 ACES

SANTA CRUZ, (AP) — This city's golf links have produced 25 golfers sufficiently expert to be included in Goldford's "Hall of Fame" of "hole-in-one" members. Some of the epic shots made here was one player who made three "aces" in a month while another bagged a two in six months.

ENGLEBRIGHT CANDIDATE

Congressman Will Visit All Parts Of District On Return From Capital

Congressman Harry L. Englebright of Nevada City, will be a candidate for re-election to congress from the Second California Congressional district.

Announcement of his candidacy was made by Rep. Englebright from Washington during the weekend by letter.

Mr. Englebright reports that at the close of the present meeting of Congress he plans to visit all sections of the district to renew his familiarity with the problems of the district and to confer with his constituents concerning any special problems they may desire to call to his attention.

MRS. JANE BARKLEY IS GREAT-GRANDMOTHER OF LARRY CARSTEN

Larry Carsten arrived at Placerville Sanatorium Friday.

Tipping the scales at nine pounds, Larry is the first-born son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Carsten, Jr., of Camino. His mother is the former Winifred Corker.

Larry is also the first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Carsten, Sr. and is the first great-grandchild of Mrs. Jane Barkley, of Camino.

Grandpa and Grandma Jack Corker greeted Larry as their third grandchild.

It is reported that Papa Carsten and Grandma Carsten have completed plans for acquiring the young man with the art of trap-shooting as soon as the weather clears.

Third Degree To Be Conferred Thursday

Members of El Dorado Lodge No. 26, F. & A. M., are making plans for a turkey dinner to be served at the Masonic temple at 6:30 o'clock on Thursday evening, February 29th.

The dinner will be followed by a meeting of the lodge at which the third degree in Masonry will be conferred. Members are being asked, in notices of the meeting, to make reservations for the dinner, for which there is no charge, if they expect to attend.

Missouri Flat Center Met Friday Night

The regular meeting of the Missouri Flat Farm Center on Friday evening at the Missouri Flat Community Hall had as a principal speaker E. Ogden Hook, manager of the Placerville Branch of the Bank of America.

Mr. Hook gave the interesting talk on "The History and Operation of Money" which has been a feature of the February series of farm center meetings throughout the county.

The normal to March 1 is 28.12

Rain which began late Saturday night continued through Sunday, Sunday night and today to raise the total of rainfall in Placerville for the water year to 33.49 inches as of 8 o'clock Monday morning. This was more than five inches over the seasonal "normal" as of March 1.

While the forecast was for continuing storm, snow sports devotees hoped for additions to the mountain snow pack as reports came from Strawberry resort Monday morning telling of the storm, which had been in the form of rain, turning to snow.

The official prediction of higher than normal temperatures, however, gave little hope that the current storm may result in building up the dwindling snow pack.

Although Twin Bridges had a depth of 40 inches on February 20 and 38 inches on February 23, the effect of the weekend rains up to Monday morning had been to reduce the depths to 30 inches. Strawberry, which had reported 26 inches Friday, had 20 inches Monday morning.

There was no report of serious storm damage anywhere in the county.

Legislature In 2-Month Recess

Special Committee Will Conduct Inquiry Into Relief, Unemployment

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—Recess committees began the important task today of assembling data for use when the legislature reassembles on Monday, May 13.

The four week special session closed yesterday with two major accomplishments:

1. Passage of a tightly restricted $12,300,000 temporary appropriation to finance the state relief administration until June 1.

2. Almost complete collapse of Gov. Culbert Olson's 64 point program in the face of a powerful coalition of republicans and conservative democrats.

For the next two and a half months chief attention will be focused on a joint senate-assembly fact finding committee on unemployment and relief. The 17 member group was allocated $30,000 to study the relief problem. It will organize in Los Angeles Tuesday, Mar. 5th.

The temper of the legislature regarding Olson's policies was clearly indicated when administration representatives were left entirely off the joint relief committee.

Members of the committee are John Phillips, Banning, chairman, whose original report on communist influences within the SRA stirred up a tempest; Roy J. Nielsen, Sacramento; J. I. Waggy, Bakersfield; Frank Mixer, Exeter; Jesse Mayo, Angels Camp, all republicans; Chas. Deuel, Chico, and Charles Brown, Inyo county, anti-administration democrats. Senate President Pro-Tempore Jerrold Seawell, Roseville republican, and Assembly Speaker Garland are ex-officio members.

"TOO MUCH IN LOVE" by JAMES ASWELL

SYNOPSIS

Annabelle Lord, vivacious Southern beauty, threatens to break her engagement to Robert Starr, assistant professor at Lawton University and a Yankee, because of his extreme jealousy of the many boy-friends who were always on hand at the hospitable Lord residence. Bob asks the advice of Professor Lord, Annabelle's father, in solving his problem. The professor tells him he must conquer his jealousy and remember one thing which has everything to do with the young couple's future happiness—Annabelle always tells the truth. After his talk with Professor Lord, Bob goes inside to see Annabelle just as she comes tripping out of the kitchen arm-in-arm with two boys. She does not see Bob until after she has kissed the boys. Despite his resolve, Bob is furious. Later, Annabelle explains that she had come to the conclusion that she and Bob really loved each other and was just kissing her childhood playmates goodbye. Annabelle now realizes that she could never marry Bob because of his unreasonable jealousy. However, she decides to give him just one more chance but she will keep a record of his behavior and, every time he gets jealous, demerits will be marked against him. If at the end of a month they total fifty, their engagement will be definitely broken. Bob thinks the plan is ridiculous but, rather than lose Annabelle, agrees. Try as he might, he continues to be insanely jealous and before long has lost forty-five points. Bob lost his temper and fifteen points when Annabelle telephoned that they would have a date that evening to themselves except that an old flame was stopping by just to say "Hello." Bob arrives at the Lord home that night with just five points left.

CHAPTER VI

Lightning-bugs went swinging over the cool, shaggy unkempt lawn. He stopped at the gate. He didn't want to go in. He could see young shadows moving across the porch lattice and he could hear the murmur of voices. Mr. Truesdale had arrived, and Annabelle was entertaining his party.

He shook his head and turned back into Ludlow Lane. He wasn't ready to face the final blow-up yet. At the same instant he thought of Celia. He felt suddenly that if he could chat with her awhile, the whole thing would look less dire. He was lonely.

In the vestibule of her building he recognized the curly head of Lanny Winners, on the way out.

"Good evening, Professor Starr?" Bob nodded, and peered at the row of push-buttons to find Celia's bell. He couldn't make out the name in the uncertain light, and he couldn't find a match. Suddenly a match flared. Lanny was holding it.

"Thanks," Bob said. He was aware that Lanny noted the name-card, and he thought of explaining in some offhand way that Celia was his cousin, but that would sound silly. Why should he make explanations to a student about his calls?

"Coming over later to the house?" Lanny inquired pleasantly.

"What house?"

"Why, Annabelle Lord's, sir. I'm on my way over to the party now. Think she said she was expecting you."

The frantic tick-tick of the lock release sounded.

"Good night, Mr. Winners," Bob said and entered the door.

Celia had her hat on.

"Why, Robert! Come in."

"You were going out. I just dropped by—nothing important. You go right ahead."

"Not on your life, I won't!" She tossed her head in a determined and, Bob thought uneasily, a rather coquettish manner. She snatched his hat and began to remove her own before a vanity mirror near the door. "It wasn't a thing. I was just Celia said, "I was just going to a movie and do you think I'd rather do that than talk to you?"

life of the day. Make yourself comfortable, man!"

What a sententious idiot she was! He smiled to imagine her meeting Herbert Dann, a solemn and rather wry man, at the door each evening with the suggestion that they proceed at once to discuss books and plays and the intellectual life of the day. He could hear Herbert's ironic response to such a sally.

But it was hot, and he took off his coat; and he made himself comfortable, and he enjoyed the rather powerful cool drink which Celia made. He even enjoyed, to a degree, their conversation; it took his mind off Annabelle, and in a way he pitied Celia. Once or twice an implication hovered in a phrase of hers which he could have construed as more than cousinly, if his mind hadn't been occupied beyond the simplest connotations.

Celia was confessing her hunger for the sight of a real dinner-party, "sophisticated men like yourself, Robert, in white tie and tails, and women with thoughts beyond this college-business,"—when a violent knocking on the door startled them.

Celia made an indignant sound in her throat. "It's those boys upstairs! Robert, I wish you'd deal with them for me once and for all. Report them! Do something. Disgraceful children!"

He strode to the door, and flung it open.

There stood Annabelle.

She stood, feet apart, hands on her hips, hair and eyes aflame; she was a doll in a fury.

"I beg your pardon," she announced with elaborate, childish sarcasm, "Mrs. Dann!" She gave the "Mrs." a slight, contemptuous accent. "And I just wanted to know about you Robert Starr!"

Then the door banged shut loudly.

"Why, I never—" began Celia.

He reached Mr. Bates first, and in a kind of ecstasy that had no anger in it, he swung Mr. Bates around and socked him, neatly and thoroughly, on his Grecian jaw. It was a magnificent blow. It disposed of Mr. Bates instantly, and also of the strange young man—who bent over to see whether Mr. Bates had really hit his head against the curb.

"Annabelle," cried Bob, hooking his arm through hers and continuing down the street, although she tried to draw away. "Annabelle, that was glorious, although Celia happens to be a relative of mine."

She looked up, flushed cheeks, eyes with a tincture of sea-green in them, frowning, still suspicious.

"A relative?"

"Sure, a sister, almost. A cousin. Honest!"

She wondered at the jubilation in him.

"A mother, I'd say!" Annabelle sniffed.

He laughed, a little hysterically. "Boy, I bet I lost a thousand points by socking Hinky Bates; but, honey, you lost two thousand. You'll always owe me a couple of hundred, anyhow, after your performance to-night. Who told you where I was. Winners?"

She nodded, and seemed to relax like a tired child. They were walking over the Memorial Bridge now. They paused at the rail.

"I'm sorry, honey-Bob. I'm just fed up and fed up with this town. I don't like that Dann woman; I wouldn't care if she was your sister. Let's move out of here, soon as we're married, dear? I don't care if it's tomorrow."

Rather petulantly, she put her head on his shoulder. His heart expanded like a hot balloon.

TESTED RECIPES AND HOUSEHOLD HINTS

— BY —
JUNE CHEMNITZ

At this time of the year when our minds are turning longingly toward green gardens and fresh fruits, the first pink shoots of rhubarb put in an appearance to appease this longing. These pink shoots also do their part toward keeping us in the pink of condition.

For rhubarb is not only refreshing-looking, but really does possess the very elements that we need to counteract our heavy winter diet. Grandma used to say that it "was good for us" in the spring because it "thinned our blood." It does contain calcium, phosphorus and iron. It is also a source of vitamin C. While the hot-house beds supply our markets with this delicious fruit throughout the year, it is not nearly so attractive either in appearance or flavor. Fortunately there are a great many ways to use rhubarb. By the way, never peel fresh tender rhubarb. It is not necessary, and besides its the outside covering that gives it the attractive pinkness when it is cooked.

Our grandmothers only used rhubarb for pies and it was commonly known as "pie plant." Her recipe was to add as much sugar as your conscience would allow, then turn your back and add another cupful. However this rule would not be safe today as the hot house rhubarb is very mild and does not require nearly as much sugar as the garden variety.

If you have never cooked rhubarb in a double boiler, try it this way. Wash and cut into small pieces. Add one cup of sugar to two cups of rhubarb, place in double boiler and cook until tender. I prefer the cooked for pies.

Five Hundred Dollar Prize Cake

The lady who entered this recipe in a contest actually won $500.00. MOLASSES CHOCOLATE CAKE. One cup sugar, ½ cup shortening. Two eggs, well beaten, ½ cup dark molasses, one teaspoon soda, one cup boiling water, 1½ cups flour. Three tablespoons cocoa, ½ teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vanilla. Cream sugar and shortening. Add beaten eggs, molasses and soda which has been dissolved in the boiling water. Then add the dry ingredients which have been sifted together and lastly the vanilla. Bake in a well-greased cake pan in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 40 minutes. Top with seven-minute frosting or whipped cream. This cake will remain moist for a week.

Miner's Chicken Fried Salt Pork

The old-time fried salt pork with cream gravy has a pull that does not lessen as the years go by. To this, slice the salt pork thin, take off the rind and slash one edge of the slices so the edges won't curl up as they fry. "Freshen the pork a little"; that is either soak it in cold water or parboil it a few minutes, as it is pretty salty. Dry the slices thoroughly in a cloth. Mix an equal amount of flour and fine corn meal and dip each slice in this. Fry in a hot frying pan until brown and crisp.

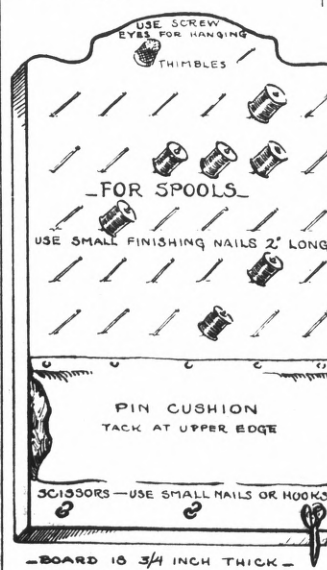

Cream Gravy. Blend well—two tablespoons pork fat; two tablespoons flour. Add ½ cup milk and ½ cup cream and cook in a double boiler, stirring all the time until smooth and creamy. Season with a small amount of salt but high with pepper.

Thanks for Letters and Recipes

Thank you Mrs. J. B. and Mrs. R. A. for your very fine letters. I am looking forward to meeting you all in person during the Homecraft Institute to be held at the Shakespear Clubhouse in May this year. Already I have received some recipes. Remember you must send in one or more in order to get our Cook Booklet. So get busy and either mail or bring into me your "pet recipes."

Baked Orange Rhubarb

One pound of rhubarb, one tablespoon of lemon juice, two tablespoons of orange juice, one tablespoon of grated orange rind, ½ cup of white sugar, 1-3 cup brown sugar, two tablespoons of water. Combine the ingredients. Cook for about 30 minutes in a covered glass casserole in a 350 degree oven.

Household Hint

Remember that when fish is fresh, the flesh is firm and the gills bright pink. To clean, hold fish by tail and with sharp knife scrape off scales toward head; wipe with damp cloth. Slit underside, carefully remove entrails; wash with cold water, removing all clots of blood from backbone. Always cook fish thoroughly.

As Handy As A Pocket In A Shirt

How many times have you gone to the sewing basket for a spool of thread, scissors or a thimble, only to find a jumbled-up mass. The following diagram is the solution to the problem and very simple to make.

TENNESSEE PLANTS TREES
MONTGOMERY, Ala., (UP)—One million young trees will be planted on privately owned lands in the 15 Tennessee Valley counties in 1939-40. Farmers of the area last year planted 547,350 seedlings.

The wine grape prorate recently paid $36,000 to 900 growers on their 1938 crop.

STATE PARK SERVICE TO CONDUCT TESTS ON MARCH 21

had experience in public camp or park management are needed to fill vacancies in the California park service. This information was released when Louis J. Kroeger, executive officer of the personnel board, announced an examination for state park custodian to be held on March 21, 1940.

This position, which pays a starting salary of $120 per month, includes in its work the maintaining and improving of state parks and state monuments and guarding and improving the property, and acting as general information aide and guide to the visiting public.

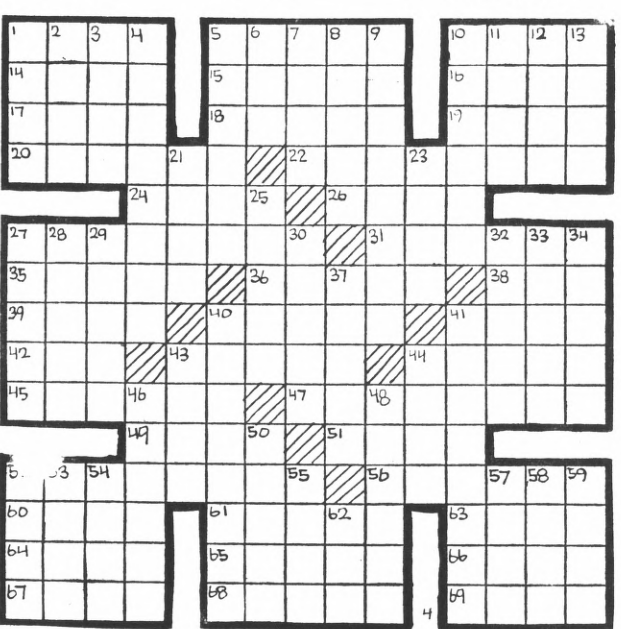

PIGEONS AVERAGE 50 MPH.

ASHTABULA, O., (UP)—The first pigeons in a 500-mile race from here to Boston flew the distance in 10 hours averaging 50 miles an hour. The race was sponsored by six pigeon racing clubs in the East.

Brewer Action Program Now in Twelve States

In twelve states—one fourth of the nation—the new "clean-up or close-up" program of the American brewing industry is now in full swing. The movement is to be gradually extended into other states.

In these twelve states, brewers and beer distributors are engaged in active cooperation with law enforcement officials to assure the maintenance of orderly, lawful conditions wherever beer is sold.

Since the first of the year three new states, Arkansas, Missouri and Georgia, have installed the industry's program of acceptance of the social responsibility of brewing.

Launched as an experiment in Nebraska in 1938, this program proved so successful in eliminating anti-social conditions where they were associated with the sale of beer that it was adopted last year in Alabama, Kansas, Maine, Tennessee, North Carolina, Mississippi, Oklahoma and West Virginia.

The movement is being sponsored by the United Brewers Industrial Foundation, representing brewers in all sections of the country. It is designed to protect an industry which contributes a million dollars a day in taxes, utilizes the products of three million acres of farm land annually and helps provide employment for a million people, from the irresponsible actions of a small number of law-violating dealers.

The plan consists of systematic investigations of retail outlets, and prompt appeals to the constituted authorities for revocation of the licenses of persistent law violators.

The program in each state is administered by a State Director selected from outside the industry. Among these Directors are a former Congressman, two former State Senators, a former United States Attorney and two former Assistant United States Attorneys, two former State Alcohol Beverage Board Administrators, and two former Assistant Attorneys-General.

THE SPIRIT OF

by JOHN CLINTON

He was a tired looking gent when he pulled up at our station at Lancaster in Southern California. He was tired, but at last he'd got away for a bit of quiet hunting. Where were the quail, he wanted to know.

Elden McLaurin, our station manager, told him where he thought there were quail. And the tired man, who was getting less tired every minute he breathed that country air, opened the luggage deck to get his boots out.

No boots!

"@-!-!-! he said.

But Mac, our station manager, took a brighter view. "Look," said Mac, "I have some boots up at the house, and I expect they'll fit you. Let's get 'em."

They got 'em. They fitted!

And the man went after his quail. And he sang as he went. And he got his limit, and he brought some back to Mac on his way home. And the tired man was a rested man. And Mac feels like an Eagle Scout.

Now we don't sell boots. We sell 76 gasoline and Triton Motor Oil. And our men aren't often called on to lend their boots. But what we like about the whole thing is the fact that at Union Oil dealers all over the west you run into operators like Elden McLaurin. It makes motoring more fun. Doesn't it?

GAS TAX RETURNS GAIN 6 PER CENT OVER JANUARY '39

SACRAMENTO—Sales of gasoline throughout California continued to gain during January, it was reported by the State Board of Equalization.

On the basis of returns made for the purpose of tax assessments, the sales during January amounted to 140,735,237 gallons of gasoline on which a tax of $4,222,057.11 was levied. This represented a gain of 6.17 per cent over the $3,976,767.03 collected in gasoline taxes for sales made for the same month the previous year.

While the comparative January sales indicated a substantial increase, the gasoline consumption for last month was slightly under that of December, 1939, when 151,708,203 gallons were sold, to bring in a tax of $4,551,246.09. The December sales closed the calendar year during which more than one billion gallons of gasoline were sold to set an all-time record for the state.

LIGHT CONDITION with Better Sight Lamps

Be good to your eyes. At all your easy chairs where eyes work hard at sewing, reading or study, make seeing easier with softly diffused light for better sight.

Choose lamps that are designed to guard your sight. These modern Better Light for Better Sight lamps are no ordinary lamps. Standards are of proper height, shades are open top and bottom and have a white lining that diffuses fully twenty per cent more light than a dark shade. And of course the inner diffusing bowl gives the daylight softness of light that is kind to the eyes.

See that your rooms now, during winter, have happy, cheerful light that is kind to the eyes. Check on your bulbs. Replace all burned out lamps. But be sure to replace these with the right sized lamp. The best in lighting costs very little more than poor lighting. Your eyes will tell you good lighting feels good.

Burger Knows Gems . . .

AMETHYST the February Stone, is the purple variety of quartz—named from Greek word meaning "Without Drunkenness"—kept wearer from intoxication—was the stone of the purple tribe of Dan in the High Priests' breastplate—finest purple (often reddish) from Russia (Siberia)—light shade found nearly everywhere—good qualities today from Brazil and Uruguay—some from Ceylon and Madagascar—color often patchy and irregular, believed due to manganese, altered or destroyed by intense heat—always an ecclesiastical stone, worn by Roman Catholic Bishops and other prelates.

By HENRY McLEMORE

LOS ANGELES (P)—Jerome Herman Dean, whose parents were guilty of understatement when they nicknamed him Dizzy, is being criticized these days for refusing a $10,000 salary offer from P. K. Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs.

To me this criticism seems unjust. In the first place, Dizzy has become accustomed to being paid more than that for doing nothing. In the past two years his arm has been so dead that they have named a sea after it. He has been about as much help to the Cubs as a pair of brass knuckles would have been to Little Lord Fauntleroy. But he was $20,000 last year and even more the year before. He probably figures, and I think correctly, that if nine-tenths of a dead arm is worth $20,000 a full dead arm should be worth at least $25,000. And he has shown nothing during the winter to discredit the general belief that his pitching arm is ready for a blue suit, a black bow tie, and a simple ceremony.

That's that. Now, in the second place (if you can count that high) Dean needs more than $10,000 for his alibi consultant alone. And he must have one. No one man could think up all the alibis he does by himself in one year. Now everyone has had a table lamp chase him around the room at one time or another, but Dizzy had one catch up with him and bite him in his bad, or pitching arm. That set him back for a full month.

A few months ago Dizzy, or his minister charge d'alibi, thought of wisdom teeth as an excuse, which were the last type of teeth that anyone suspected Dizzy of having. Even Dizzy. He had them taken out and afterwards he said he never felt better in his life. He said that not only did his arm feel as good as new, but his charge d'alibi said (or so I was told by a defrocked hockey referee) even more. The charge d'alibi said that a whole new world opened for Dizzy when he had his wisdom teeth pulled. To hear him tell it (or so I was told by a little bird — Admiral Richard E.) Dizzy now plays the violin, hide and seek, and the horses.

At the present time Dizzy is in Hot Springs, Arkansas, where he is instructor and lecturer in a baseball school. Those who have sat in on his lectures say that he is a combination of William L. Phelps, Nicholas Murray Butler, and Eliot's five foot shelf. Dizzy, I understand, is doing research work, which is another reason why he needs more than Wrigley has offered him for the coming season. He spends hours each day, the report is, working toward the perfection of a complete and 100 per cent "nothing" ball. He became interested in this line of research following the game he pitched against the Yankees in the World Series two years ago.

A perfect "nothing" ball would be one so slow that by the time it got to the plate the game would be called on account of darkness. It would have so little on it in the way of spin or curve that the batter would become so engrossed in counting the stitches and the hand writing of President Ford Frick that he would neglect to swing. And as all you real students of baseball know, the swing is one of the most important parts of hitting.

In the third place (but perhaps I had better say in the fourth place, being as that is where the Cubs finished last year) Wrigley could es-

"TRAFFIC NERVES" TOPIC OF BOOKLET BY OIL COMPANY

Mark Twain once said, "Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody ever does anything about it." Up to a short time ago, such was the case with "traffic nerves." Then Union Oil Company, with the able assistance of Dr. George Mount, eminent psychologist, decided to do something about it. Accordingly, a traffic clinic was established to determine just what were the contributing causes of "traffic nerves."

As a result of the survey conducted by the traffic clinic, Union Oil Company has published the information in a booklet, "How to Reduce Traffic Nerves." It tells how to drive in fog, how to reduce eye strain, what to do about irritating noises, how to keep your windshield clear in wet weather, and many other tips on the best way to get the most fun out of driving. Copies of this booklet may be obtained at all Union Oil Company service stations.

At the outset it was realized that in order to isolate the different factors causing "traffic nerves," it was necessary to obtain a running record of drivers' reactions while they were at the wheel. This necessitated precision apparatus which was constructed according to Dr. Mount's specifications. The equipment was designed to give a running record of the pulse rate, blood pressure and psycho-galvanic response of drivers under actual driving conditions. By use of this equipment, technicians sat in the car with the "patient" and checked the driver's nervous reactions by use of special meters and gauges. In this way the subject's nervous reactions under all kinds of driving conditions were recorded. For example, it was discovered that the average driver's pulse beat goes up 27 per cent above normal when encountering heavy traffic. Constantly repeated nervous shocks, as recorded on the special instruments, indicate that the nervous strain increases in traffic.

C. R. Ball Unavoidably Hits Lad With Car

SACRAMENTO—Jimmie Porter, 7, of Ben All, was seriously injured Saturday when he was struck down by an automobile on Auburn Boulevard, near his home.

The driver of the car, Charles R. Ball, 35, of Auburn, Placer county, told Highway Patrolman Jack Thielen the boy ran into the path of his machine and he could not avoid the accident.

Ball brought the child to the emergency hospital. Attendants there stated the boy has fractures of the skull, the right knee and left elbow.

After emergency treatment the boy was taken to the Sacramento Hospital.
